

1. Data Privacy Policy

When you use our website or are in contact with us in other ways, we – being the data responsible - process your personal data.

This data privacy policy governs our collection and processing of personal data in connection with your use of our website: fisker.as, when you subscribe to our newsletter, when you contact us in other ways, and when we receive information about you from third parties.

2. Information we get from our website, or when you contact us in other ways

When you contact us by our website or in other ways, for instance by e-mail, your enquiry may contain personal data such as your name and address, employment and job function.

We may use this information to answer your enquiry, as well as we may use this information to invoice the company you represent.

The information you give us we register in our CRM-system, so that we can contact you with information about products or quotations, or we can contact you concerning the business relationship we have with the company you represent.

3. Information when you subscribe to our newsletter

If you have subscribed to our newsletter we have your consent to store your e-mail address, name, company name and job function.

You can always withdraw your consent, either by calling us at +45 8793 8222 or by sending us an e-mail at info@fisker.as.

4. Information from third parties

If we have received your data from third parties, for instance your employer or a colleague, we register your name, telephone number, company name, and job function in our CRM system, perhaps as a customer lead or as key person in the company you represent.

5. General Data Protection Regulation of the European Union

Our legal basis to process data as described above is the pursuit of our legitimate interests. From the 25th May 2018 our legal basis is the GDPR Art. 6, 1., (f). It is a legitimate interest to comply with our contractual responsibilities and to perform good customer service as well as pursue potential sales leads.

6. Your rights

You can always contact us and ask which personal data we have registered about you. If you want us to change this data, we'll change it, and if you want us to delete it, we'll delete it.
